After which His Majesty was pleased to make the following most gracious Speech.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

I Cannot put an End to this Session, without declaring My entire Satisfaction in Your Proceedings during the Course of it. The Zeal you have shewn for the Honour of My Crown, as well as for My true Interest, and that of your Country, which are ever the same, is the clearest Demonstration of that Duty and Affection to my Person and Government, of which you so unanimously assured Me at your First Meeting. Nothing could so much add to the Pleasure which these Considerations afford Me, as that I am now able to acquaint you with the great Progress made of late by the Combined Army in Germany, under the Command of Prince Ferdinand of Brunswick. I formerly told you, That the Nature of the War, in those Parts, had kept the Campaign still depending; and it now appears, to the Surprize of my Enemies, that the superior Ability and indefatigable Activity of My General, and the Spirit and Ardour of My Officers and Troops, have greatly profited of this Perseverance, notwithstanding all the Difficulties arising from the Season.

By your Assistance, I have taken the best Care to recruit that Army in an effectual Manner; and have made such a Disposition of My Fleet for the next Summer, as may most advantageously defend My Kingdoms; protect the Commerce of My Subjects; maintain and extend Our Possessions, and Acquisitions; and annoy the Enemy.

As in all My Measures I have nothing in View but the Security and Felicity of My Dominions, the Support of My Allies, and the Restoring of the Publick Tranquility, I trust in the Divine Providence, to give a happy Issue to Our farther Operations.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I cannot sufficiently thank you for your Unanimity, and Dispatch, in providing for the Expences of My Civil Government, and the Honour and Dignity of the Crown: And I think Myself as much obliged to you, for the prudent Use, which in framing that Provision, you have made of my Consent to

to leave My own Hereditary Revenues to ſuch Diſpoſition of Parliament, as might beſt conduce to the Utility and Satisfaction of the Publick, as for what more immediately concerns Myſelf.

In making My Acknowledgements for the large and extenſive Supplies which you have granted Me this Seſſion, I am at a Loſs whether moſt to applaud your Chearfulneſs in giving, or your Wiſdom in proportioning them to the extraordinary Occaſions of the Publick, notwithſtanding thoſe uncommon Burthens, which I heartily regret. No Care ſhall be wanting, on my Part, to ſee them duly applied to the National Ends for which you intended them.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

The Expiration of this Parliament now drawing very near, I will forthwith give the neceſſary Orders for calling a new one. But I cannot take My Leave of you, without returning My Thanks for the many eminent Proofs you have given of your Fidelity and Affection to My Family and Government, and of your Zeal for this happy and excellent Conſtitution.

During this Parliament, the Flame of War was kindled by the injurious Encroachments and Uſurpations of Our Enemies; and therefore it became juſt and neceſſary on Our Part. In the Proſecution of it you have given ſuch Support to My Royal Grandfather and Myſelf, and ſuch Aſſiſtance to Our Allies, as have manifeſted your Publick-ſpirited Concern for the Honour of the Nation, and the Maintenance of it's undoubted Rights and Poſſeſſions, and been attended with glorious Succeſſes, and great Acquiſitions, in various Parts of the World; particularly the entire Reduction of Canada, a Conqueſt of the utmoſt Importance to the Security of Our Colonies in North America, and to the Extenſion of the Commerce and Navigation of My Subjects.

May God Almighty grant Continuance to theſe Succeſſes! The Uſe which I propoſe to make of them is, to ſecure and promote the Welfare of my Kingdoms, and to carry on the War with Vigour, in order to procure to them the Bleſſings of Peace, on ſafe and honourable Conditions for Me and My Allies; to which I have been always ready to hearken.

Firm in theſe Reſolutions, I do, with entire Confidence, rely on the good Diſpoſitions of my faithful Subjects in the Choice of their Repreſentatives; and I make no Doubt but they will thereby demonſtrate the Sincerity of thoſe Aſſurances, which have been ſo cordially and univerſally given Me, in the loyal, affectionate, and unanimous Addreſſes of My People.

Then the Lord Chancellor, by His MAJESTY's Command, ſaid;

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

IT is His Majeſty's Royal Will and Pleaſure, That this Parliament be prorogued to Tueſday the Seventh Day of April next, to be then here held; and this Parliament is accordingly prorogued to Tueſday the Seventh Day of April next.
